Foreword

This year, for the first time in their 57-year history, the official collegiate sports guides come under the complete control of the colleges themselves through the National Collegiate Athletic Association. The editing, manufacture and distribution of these books now is being handled by the National Collegiate Athletic Bureau, the service bureau of the NCAA.

The guides and rules books were originated in 1893 by the American Sports Publishing Company, a subsidiary of A. G. Spalding & Bros. The "Football Guide and Rules Book" and the "Basketball Guide" came under the NCAA in 1905 with the founding of that association. In the ensuing years the college Guides increased in number and in scope through the efforts of the NCAA and of Mr. John T. Doyle, president of American Sports Publishing Company. In 1941 A. S. Barnes & Company acquired American Sports Publishing Company from Spalding and continued to publish the guides and rules books through the year 1949. The National Collegiate Athletic Association wishes to express its sincere appreciation for the contribution which Spalding and Barnes have made to the Association and to the whole field of intercollegiate sports through the publication of these record and rules books through the years.

As of last January the guides no longer are connected with either a commercial sponsor or a commercial publishing house. All income from the books over actual publishing costs will accrue to the NCAA treasury and thus will be devoted to the interests of intercollegiate athletics.

All of the material for each of the nine books in the annual series—Lacrosse, Track and Field, Football, Soccer, Boxing, Wrestling, Swimming, Ice Hockey and Basketball—is being planned, assembled and edited by a staff devoting itself exclusively to work in the field of college athletics information and playing rules. The rules, schedules, results and statistics presented in each of the guides will be official in all cases.

HUGH C. WILLETT, President

20th Annual NCAA Tournament

By B. R. PATTERSON
Chairman, NCAA Wrestling Rules Committee

The 20th annual Wrestling Championships of the National Collegiate Athletic Association were held at the Men's Gymnasium, Iowa State Teachers College, Cedar Falls, Iowa, March 24 and 25, 1950.

The host school won the team title easily, scoring 30 points, almost double the total of runner-up Purdue. Following the Boilermaker's 16 points, came Cornell College with 14 and Oklahoma A&M and Syracuse with 10 each. This ended a 2-year reign by the Aggies.

Anthony Gizoni of Waynesburg College was selected as the outstanding wrestler in the tournament after he had defeated defending champion Plaza of Purdue, Peninger of Oklahoma A&M and Altman of Iowa Teachers to win the 121-pound class title.

Out of an entry list of 160, 114 wrestlers were on hand to compete for the eight individual titles. Four of these titles were retained by the 1949 winners, Lange of Cornell at 136 pounds, Young of Iowa Teachers at 145, Nelson of Iowa Teachers at 155 and Smith of Iowa Teachers in the 165-pound class.

The tournament was well planned and conducted and the entire staff at Cedar Falls is to be congratulated for the job it did.

The Wrestling Coaches' and Officials' Association met under J. F. Wagner of Colorado A&M, president of the association for the past year, and elected the following officers for 1950-51:

President, D. H. McCluskey, Iowa State Teachers
Vice-President, D. C. Bartelma, Minnesota
Secretary-Treasurer, Glenn C. Law, Illinois
Membership Secretary, Ray Sparks, Springfield College

1950'S OUTSTANDING COLLEGIATE WRESTLER IS MOMENTARILY AT A DISADVANTAGE, but this apparently didn't bother Tony Gisoni (right) of Waynesburg, He not only overcame his opponent here, Frank Altman of Iowa Teachers, but he went on to win the NCAA 121-pound competition so impressively that he was selected as the tourney's outstanding entrant.

HEADING FOR THE MAT is Jim Maurey of Penn State with assistance from Keith Young of Iowa Teachers. Young defeated Maurey in this NCAA semi-final match at Cedar Falls last year and went on to win the 145-lb. title.

LARGEST CROWD IN PRINCETON'S WRESTLING HISTORY jammed Dillon Gymnasium to watch the 46th annual Eastern Intercollegiate Wrestling Association Championships last March.

New England Intercollegiate Tournament

By J. E. BULLOCK
Coach, Williams College

The New England Intercollegiate Wrestling Association championships were held at the U. S. Coast Guard Academy at New London, Conn., March 10-11, 1950. Eight varsity teams and six freshman teams were represented in the tournament.

Two of the four defending champions, William Donecho of Springfield College, 121-pound class, and Paul Shorb of Williams College, 145-pound class, retained their titles. Williams won the team title and thereby took possession of the Rockwell Wrestling Trophy.

John Cepuran of Springfield, the 155-pound winner, was awarded the Coaches' Trophy as the outstanding wrestler in the tourney, according to a poll of the coaches and officials present.

The Academy furnished excellent facilities for the tournament and had on hand an experienced crew of timers, scorers and other officials who worked efficiently under the direction of Commander J. S. Merriman and Cadet Manager A. B. Rose.

The 1951 New England tournament will be held at Tufts College, Medford, Mass., March 9-10.

Eastern Intercollegiate Tournament

By GEORGE L. SHIEBLER

Administrative Assistant, Eastern College Athletic Conference

The Syracuse University wrestlers successfully defended their team laurels in the 46th annual Eastern Intercollegiate Wrestling Association Championships held on March 10 and 11 in the Dillon Gymnasium at Princeton University. The Orange outfit scored triumphs in three of the individual championships and compiled a total of 32 points to eke out a win over Lehigh, the runner-up with 29 points, and Penn State, third place team, with 28 points.

This marked the second straight Syracuse win in the E.I.W.A. and brings to twelve the number of individual titles returned to the Orange campus. The Syracuse co-captains Ken Hunte, the 155-pound champion, was named as the outstanding performer in the tournament. Bob Gerbino in the 121-pound class and George Beghardt in the 175-pound division were the other Syracuse champions.

All sixteen member colleges entered complete teams in the competition.

The event was one of the outstanding in E.I.W.A. annals. The Princeton University A.A. officials arranged perfect conditions for the wrestlers and spectators and a large and enthusiastic audience crowded the Dillon Gymnasium for all sessions.

Hunte, Gebhardt, and Homer Barr of Penn State in the heavyweight, were the 1949 champions who repeated last winter. Mike Filipos of Lehigh bowed to Syracuse's Gerbino at 121 pounds; Dave Poor, Princeton's defending 128-pound titleholder, was dethroned by George Feuerbach of Lehigh; Navy's Wayne Smith took the 136-pound crown from Joe Settanni of Syracuse. In the 165-pound matches Pascal Perri of Syracuse, the defending champ, finished fourth with Emil Perona of Rutgers bringing the Scarlet its initial E.I.W.A. title.

The 1951 championships will be held on March 9 and 10 at Penn State College.

Four-I Tournament

By CLAUDE B. SHARER
Coach, Case Institute

The Four-I Tournament—the 13th Annual Interstate Intercollegiate Individual Invitational Wrestling Championships—at Case Institute of Technology March 10 and 11 set a new high for entries with 22 colleges and universities represented by 103 competitors.

Tony Gizoni of Waynesburg was the individual star of the tournament, scoring a grand slam with four pins to win the 121-pound championship for the second consecutive year. Other 1949 champions who repeated this year were James LaRoch of Ithaca who was 155-pound champion last year and moved up successfully to the 165-pound class for the 1950 tournament, and Gene Gibbons of Michigan State in the 175-pound class.

The tournament included 137 matches of which 28 were decided by pins, 92 by decisions, 9 by referees' decisions and 8 by forfeit.

Only 4 colleges entered full teams for the tournament. They were Kent State University, Lock Haven State Teachers, Edinboro State Teachers, and Case Institute. Waynesburg with only 7 entries won 4 first and 2 third places for a total score of 37 points. Michigan State first in the unofficial team totals last year, also entered 7 men who won two first places, a second and a third for a total of 20 points.

Gizoni of Waynesburg was high individual scorer of the meet with 10 points, closely followed by Simmons of Wheaton and Mullins of Lock Haven with 9 points each.

Don Beitelman, University of Buffalo, won the fastest fall of the tournament in 34 seconds, with Mullins of Lock Haven following closely with a fall in 38 seconds.

The 14th Annual Four-I Wrestling Championships will be held at Case Institute, March 9 and 10, 1951.

Big Ten Conference Tournament

By CLAUDE REECK
Coach, Purdue University

Purdue University provided five out of the eight individual champions as the Boilermakers won the Western Conference title for the third straight year in the 1950 wrestling tournament held at the University of Iowa, Iowa City, March 3-4.

In addition to the five individual titles, the surprising Boilermakers added a third and a fourth place to score a total of 33 points, far outdistancing the rest of the field. Ohio State finished in second place with 16.

The five individual champions on the title-winning Purdue team were Arnold Plaza, 121 pounds; Joe Patacsil, 128; Charles Farina, 136; Jack Moreno, 145 and Waldemar Van Cott, 165.

Plaza and Joe Scarpello of Iowa the 175-pound titlist, both wound up brilliant collegiate careers by winning their fourth straight Big Ten championships.

Patacsil was named the outstanding wrestler of the tournament as he defeated Alan Rice of Minnesota defending 136-pound titlist, in the 128-pound final. Patacsil won championship honors in this class for the second straight year.

Other newly crowned individual champions were Don Ryan of Wisconsin 155 pounds and William Miller of Ohio State who edged out Leo Nomellini of Minnesota by a referee's decision in the heavyweight class.

Big Seven Conference Tournament

By L. M. REYNARD
Coach, Kansas State College

The University of Oklahoma wrestling team, coached by Port Robertson, won its eighth Big Seven Conference title last year by scoring 35 points, seven more than the defending champions Nebraska, could tally.

Reese of Nebraska was the only one of the four defending champs to hold onto his title, the 175-pound division. Wise of Oklahoma and Sparano and De Boise of Nebraska all gave way to new titlists in their classes. Marcotte of Oklahoma regained the 155-pound title which he had first won in 1948, but lost last season to Bush of Iowa State. In all, Sooner wrestlers won four of the eight individual titles in the 1950 tournament.

Midwest Conference

By MIRON A. MORRILL
Publicity Director, Cornell College

Cornell College of Mount Vernon, Iowa, dominated the Midwest Conference wrestling picture in 1950, as in so many years before.

Cornell won the conference championship, after compiling a season's dual meet record of 10 wins against one defeat, tops among conference members.

In addition, Cornell's wrestlers placed third in the NCAA meet and second in the National AAU tourney. Nine of Coach Paul Scott's charges placed in either one or both of these tourneys.

Cornell's outstanding performer for the last four years has been Lowell (Tiger) Lange, who won three NCAA and three NAAU titles in the 136-pound division. Lange's collegiate dual meet record stands at 36 wins and one loss.

Skyline Six Conference Tournament

By J. F. WAGNER
Coach, Colorado A&M

The 1950 Conference Wrestling Championship Tournament was held at Denver University March 3 and 4, with all schools in the conference represented. It was very evident during the entire tournament that the caliber of wrestling has continued to improve in this region. It was especially noticeable that the Western Division had made considerable progress.

Wyoming University, with 47 points, was the winner with a very fine team, having strong contestants in each weight. Colorado A&M, the perennial winner, had to be content with second place, with 27 points.

Rocky Mountain Conference Tournament

By KEITH BOWEN
Coach, Colorado Mines

The 1950 Rocky Mountain Conference Wrestling Tournament was conducted at the Colorado School of Mines with entries from Colorado State College, Colorado School of Mines, Montana State College, Western State College and Colorado College.

The results followed the pattern established some ten years ago by the perennial winner, Colorado State College. John Hancock's Bears won 7 of 8 first places and the conference title with a total of 47 points. Colorado School of Mines placed second with 25 points. Montana State and Western State tied for third, and Colorado College placed fourth.

Most encouraging note of the tournament was that perhaps for the first time in years, five conference schools were represented. Idaho State College of Pocatello, Idaho is now a sixth member of the Rocky Mountain Conference, and there is a strong possibility that 1951 will see one hundred percent representation in wrestling from this conference.

Pacific Coast Intercollegiate Tournament

By BILL TOMARAS
President, Pacific Coast Intercollegiate Wrestling Association

Pacific Coast wrestling reached its greatest post-war heights during the 1949-50 season with the formation of the Pacific Coast Intercollegiate Wrestling Association, an organization designed to promote collegiate wrestling on the West Coast and to sponsor the annual championship meet for all NCAA schools in the area.

Oregon State College walked off with the team championship in the first tournament sponsored by the new organization, held at Berkeley, Calif. March 17-18. Eleven colleges and universities participated in the meet. Washington State College and San Diego State College tied for second-place honors. Other teams scoring points were U.C.L.A., San Jose State, California Poly, University of California, San Francisco State and Fresno State, in that order.

Voted the outstanding wrestler of the PCIWA tournament was 128-pound Joe Kimura of San Francisco State Collge. Joe McKim of the University of California and Sosh Watanabe of Washington State were other outstanding contenders for this honor.

The number of participants and the calibre of wrestling has shown steady advancement along the Pacific Coast since the war, and great hope is held for still more improvement. The wrestling picture is bright and encouraging. Several schools have reported "best ever" spectator interest. High school wrestling participation and interest is also increasing especially in Oregon.

Columbia's Blind Wrestler

By BOB CHERNEFF

Former Athletic Publicity Director, Columbia University

An athletic competitor who has overcome a physical handicap to rise to prominence in his sport never fails to capture the admiration of the American public. His accomplishments serve as an inspiration not only to others similarly afflicted, but they also stir the imagination of the average athletic spectator who favors the "underdog."

Such an inspirational figure is Eugene Augustine Manfrini, a 21-year-old Columbia wrestler, who though blind since early childhood, is considered one of the best in the East. In two years of collegiate wrestling—and several more as a schoolboy mat star—he has lost only one bout in more than sixty matches. This is the story then of a boy who not only has overcome a handicap but who is considered on his way to becoming a champion in his sport. And at the same time he is living a near-normal life as an honor student and gifted musician in Columbia College.

Gene was born on Sept. 20, 1928, in the Bronx as the perfectly normal son of an immigrant Italian mechanic-blacksmith. At the age of three, he contracted measles and was blinded by an over-dose of silver nitrate in his eyes. He retains no visual images in his memory. At the age of five, he was enrolled in the New York Institute for the Education of the Blind and remained there until June, 1947. In his fourteen years at the Institute, Gene learned how a sightless person can live in a world of vision—but he learned more than that. By the time he was graduated, he had become an honor student (he was salutatorian of his class) he was an accomplished performer on the piano, dabbling in classical and modern composition (one of his songs is now being considered by a publishing house); he was a member of the track team and school chorus, giving a recital with the latter at Carnegie Hall—and he had won the Junior Metropolitan AAU wrestling championship; the Senior Metropolitan AAU championship and, at the age of 19, was considered a contender for an Olympic berth until an injury put him out of contention.

"I guess I owe everything to the Institute," says Manfrini. "It was a lucky day for me when Clyde Downs the wrestling coach, decided that the best way to channel a 12-year-old's extra energy was to make him a wrestler. Since then, wrestling has become all-important to me. I don't think I could get along without it."

And Manfrini "gets along" very well. Without the use of a cane or seeing-eye dog, or any other aid, he walks around the campus, attends classes and goes to practice daily in a perfectly normal manner. Only a close inspection would reveal that he is blind. In this connection, Manfrini tells a story which happened some years ago when he was attending the Institute.

"I was on my way home," he says (He travels the New York subways with ease.), "and was waiting for a traffic light to change when someone walked up to me and said: 'Would you please help me across the street?—I'm blind.' When we got to the other side, this other chap started to thank me. That's OK, I said, I'm in the same boat."

Young Gene came to Columbia in September, 1948, and entered Columbia College the following February. He is majoring in music, hoping someday to become a composer and also to be able to teach the subject. From the first he has upheld his fine scholastic average even though many of his prescribed lower-college courses demand voluminous reading. For his "Humanities" course, for example, he must read some thirty classics each semester. Only a few of these have Braille editions so he employs a "reader" for the rest. He writes out most of his examinations on a standard typewriter (after studying from class notes made on a Braille shorthand recorder) except in his mathematics and other technical work, where he takes his examinations orally.

As to his wrestling ability Dick Waite Columbia coach, says: "Gene has one of the finest senses of balance I have ever seen. He has complete control of his body at all times and he concedes nothing—nor asks for any concessions. He is also one of the most intensive students of wrestling—his deep knowledge of the subject coming from his great love of the sport."

As far as concessions to his blindness are concerned, Gene asks only one thing—that spectators be quiet until contact is made and that the referee refrain as much as possible from moving around on the mat while he and his opponent are on their feet. This, of course, is so that Gene will be able to judge the position of his opponent by sound. Recently, his coach was talking to some wrestling fans about him and mentioned a bout last year when Manfrini was a freshman. "The referee wasn't aware of the sound factor and kept moving around the mat. Gene became momentarily confused and turned around to face the referee, thinking he was his opponent. Then the other wrestler sprang on Gene from behind, taking unfair advantage."

Manfrini broke in. "That wasn't unfair, Coach," he said. "I don't want anybody to think he has to wrestle me any way but normally."

On the mat, Gene is confident that he can handle himself. Even at the start of a bout, when wrestlers usually circle each other warily looking for an opening, he performs in the usual manner. "Yes," he reluctantly admits, "I sometimes am taken down by a leg drive or other quick maneuver, but so far I have been able to counteract my opponent's tactics once he reveals his strategy." In that statement lies the key to Manfrini's success, for he is almost exclusively a "counter wrestler," relying on his amazing quick reflexes and thorough knowledge of the sport to slip out of an opponent's hold and work into one of his own.

Gene's only defeat in dual meets came at Syracuse when he was facing Ken Hunte, Eastern Intercollegiate 155-pound champion. At that, Hunte couldn't pin him and won by a decision. Several times it looked as though Manfrini might go ahead on points, but each time he got the advantage the contestants had worked themselves off the mat and had to return to the center and their original position.

He lives in one of the dormitories on Morningside Heights and his typical daily schedule is crammed full of piano practice, wrestling practice, classes, study periods and the like. For recreation he takes his girl to dances, goes to the movies and takes an active part in dormitory bull sessions.

And he's not adverse to the usual type of horse-play which characterizes collegiate athletic teams. A favorite gag around the Columbia gymnasium came into being one day when one of his teammates was having trouble manipulating the click-type lock on his locker. "Here, let me help you," Gene said—and he opened the lock in a jiffy. Now, his wrestling buddies comb the locker room looking for boys in a similar situation. When they find one, up steps Manfrini to open the lock—while the red-faced kid stands helplessly by.

The other day, however, Coach Waite pulled one on him. Manfrini was working out with another lad who wasn't much of a wrestler and Gene was toying with him. Waite motioned the other kid to move out of the way while he took his place. Gene applied a hold half-heartedly, and nothing happened. He put on more pressure. Finally he went to work in earnest, and Waite, a former champion himself, refused to budge. With that, Gene stood up and said: "Hey wait a minute. Something's wrong here."

In Coach Waite's estimation, he is a certain champion of the future.

SCHOLASTIC REVIEWS

California

By FRANK CROSBY
Coach, San Diego High School

Wrestling in the high schools of southern California continued to show slow but steady growth and improvement during the 1949-50 season. The plan of having southern California divided into four sections for wrestling is proving very satisfactory for the present. It is hoped that wrestling will soon spread to enough schools so that it can be handled in the established athletic leagues. Last year we adopted the policy of making the wrestling season parallel the basketball season, so as not to interfere with spring sports.

The prospects in the newly-formed San Diego City Athletic League look very encouraging. Four of the schools have wrestling teams now and the other two are waiting to get suitable buildings.

San Diego High School dethroned El Centro High for the Southern California Interscholastic Federation Championship by a very narrow margin at the 1950 tourney held at Inglewood High School, March 4. El Centro had won the team title in 1948 and 1949 and had tied with San Diego in 1947.

Joe Guizar of El Centro won his fourth successive championship, while teammate Walter Beljean defended his 145-pound title successfully. Guizar, who won several matches in the 1948 Olympic Trials while still in his early teens, took the 133-pound division in the 1950 SCIF tournament.

Illinois

By ALLEN A. HURLEY

The State of Illinois produced several excellent high school wrestling teams during the 1949-50 season. Those having fine records and deserving of mention were Moline, Rock Island, Champaign, Pekin, Tilden Tech (Chicago), Blue Island, and New Trier (Winnetka).

The state tournament was held at Proviso Township High School in Maywood, Illinois, with forty schools represented.

New Trier Township High School of Winnetka won the team championship with 28 points. Moline and Tilden Tech (Chicago) tied for second and third with 23 each while Champaign, last year's champion, followed with 15. New Trier and Tilden Tech each produced two individual champions and had identical place points. The team title was decided when the Winnetka school scored nine points on pins.

Hardy, Champaign's 112-pound champion, won his title without having a point scored against him. Helmstadter, New Trier heavyweight champion won 23 straight matches during the season, pinning 19 of his opponents. His tournament record included three pins.

Indiana

The popularity of Wrestling in Indiana is increasing by leaps and bounds, as evidenced by the number of new schools sponsoring teams and the enthusiastic reception by fans both old and new.

Last year the I.H.S.A.A. took over the tournament as an official State Championship after a lapse of more than eight years, during which time it had been conducted only as a state wide invitational tournament.

In taking this action, the state association adopted a new and completely detailed plan for running the tourney. This plan made provision for the increasing number of entries by setting up two sectional centers.

The Northern Sectional was held at Roosevelt High School, East Chicago, with ten teams participating. Central High of South Bend emerged champion and qualified ten men for the final tournament.

In the Southern Sectional at Bloomington, the host Panthers won the championship over ten competing schools, while qualifying seven men for the finals.

One week later thirteen schools sent 48 men into the final championship matches at Jefferson High School in Lafayette. Five teams battled through the final matches before Bloomington High swept to its sixth consecutive team Championship.

For the sixth straight year Holy Cross High School of New Orleans was the winner by a comfortable margin, taking eight of 12 events. Edmond Story, co-captain of the Holy Cross team, and winner of the 155-pound event, was presented the sportsmanship trophy given by A. Shriever, sponsor of the tournament.

The Holy Cross team was coached by Brother Melchior, C.S.C., who introduced high school wrestling in Louisiana six years ago.

Roselle Park High School won the state championship, nosing out a powerful Washington High School team. Union High School took third place. Fifteen teams had placed men in the finals.

Sectional championships preceding the finals were won by Somerville, Paulsboro, Leonia, and Roselle Park. Eight of the ten champions crowned came from Union County, as did the outstanding wrestler, Don Danz, and the winning team, Roselle Park.

Oregon

By IRWIN HARRIS
Athletic News Director, Oregon State College

Packing its greatest strength in the heavier weights, Klamath Falls high school came from behind to win three of the last four bouts and claim its third straight Oregon high school wrestling championship in a two-day tournament held on the Oregon State college campus March 10 and 11.

Klamath's Pelicans, in addition to three individual champions, had a second, a third and a fourth and 11 fall-points for a total of 36. Sandy High also had three individual winners but wound up with only 30 points for second. Springfield was a close third with 29.

Prep wrestling probably enjoyed its best year in Oregon. So many schools participated that it was necessary for the first time to hold district tourneys to determine qualifiers for the state meet. The top four men in each weight from each district qualified. Some 192 boys, representing 21 different schools took part in the tournament.

Bob Antonacci, Oregon State's varsity wrestling coach, took over as chairman for the tournament when Jim Dixon, the regular chairman, got sick the week of the meet.

Wrestlers from eight member schools, located in five Pennsylvania Inter-scholastic Athletic Association Districts, divided the honors as individual champions in the eleven weight class bouts held at the 13th Annual P.I.A.A. Wrestling Championships, March 10 and 11 at the Washington High School, Washington.

Four contending champions who held titles since the 1949 Tournament each repeated with title honors in a heavier weight class in the 1950 event.

Jerry Maurey, Clearfield High School wrestler, won his fourth State title by taking the 138-pound match to complete an outstanding four year career of competition in high school wrestling. He defeated Tom Young, Washington High School, 6-2, to complete a record of 67 matches in four years of wrestling without a defeat. Maurey won the 112-pound title in 1947, the 120-pound title in 1948 and took the 127-pound crown in 1949.

Virginia

By WILLIAM MARTIN
Granby High School

Within a space of three years, twelve Virginia schools have added wrestling to their interscholastic schedule. New schools entering teams into competition are Salem High School, Bedford High School, William Byrd of Roanoke, Episcopal High School of Alexandria and Craddock of Norfolk.

The annual State High and Prep School Tournament was held at the University of Virginia in Charlottesville February 24-25. Granby High School of Norfolk, with no defeats in a 12-meet dual season, won the tournament. Two weeks later Granby won the State Senior A.A.U. meet in Norfolk.

One of the outstanding features of the wrestling season was the stiff competition given to high schools and freshman college teams by the Virginia School for the Deaf and Blind, which rounded out a successful season by winning the National Championship of the Deaf and Blind Schools.

For the second year, the state tournament was set up with two sectional meets to qualify boys for the finals. The finals were held in the University Field House in Madison, and was the best meet thus far, from a standpoint of quality wrestling as well as spectator interest.

Fourteen schools entered the sectionals; ten of them qualified boys for the finals. South Division High of Milwaukee captured the team championship. Coached by Joe Nowak, South was in a class by itself, taking six of the ten individual championships and compiling a total of 36 points. Stevens Point was second with 22, Beloit and Milwaukee Pulaski tied for third with 15 each.

In addition to the state tournament, the Big Eight Conference, composed of southeastern Wisconsin high schools, held a conference tourney this season with five teams entered. Guy Weaver, coach at Racine Park High, planned and managed the meet, and is doing a fine job in the interests of wrestling. The championship went to Beloit, with Racine Park second and Racine Horlick third.

Wyoming

By EVERETT D. LANTZ
Coach, University of Wyoming

Wyoming Scholastic Wrestling enjoyed another successful season in 1950 with additional schools participating in a dual meet season as well as the State Tournament. Good attendance witnessed the tournament which was held at the State University at Laramie on March 10 and 11.

Cody High School, favorite to repeat as State Champion, did not disappoint any of its supporters. Again Cody dominated the meet by piling up a team score of 56 points and claiming seven individual champions to win first place trophy. Trophies also went to Laramie with 33 points for second and Cheyenne, third place with 29 points.
