ON THE COVER: Curd Alexander, NCAA College-Division 115-pound wrestling titlist from Northeast Missouri State College. Although unseeded in the tournament held at Mankato State (Minn.), he outclassed five opponents to become the first Missouri collegiate wrestler ever to win an NCAA national championship. He ended with a 25-6-1 overall record, including an 8-0-0 mark against 115-pound rivals. The junior industrial education major from Edwardsville, Ill., also was voted most valuable performer in the Missouri Intercollegiate Athletic Association meet.

"What Makes a Winning Athlete?"

NEW FREE BOOKLET
tells how pHisoHex® can help

Abrasion—abscess—absence from play. A preventable sequence of events. Regular, exclusive use of pHisoHex, America's leading liquid antibacterial skin cleanser, builds up an invisible antibacterial film of hexachlorophene on the skin. Such use makes the skin of athletes "hospital" clean—like that of surgeons—better protected against infection of abrasions and broken blisters. Helps prevent boils, too.

The new booklet emphasizes the role of healthy skin in sports. It describes how pHisoHex has protected team players, kept them where the action is. It also includes other health hints for athletes. Write for your free copy.

Free supply also available to coaches, trainers and athletic officials for use of team members and students.

National Collegiate Championships

By JESS HOKE

Editor, Amateur Wrestling News

Behind by 29 points at the completion of the semi-finals and with only one finalist, Oklahoma State fought back through consolations to win the 1968 National Collegiate team championship at Penn State University, March 21-23. It was the Cowboys' 26th victory in 38 years.

Oklahoma State's surge reached its peak when sophomore Dwayne Keller upset defending champion Rick Sanders of Portland State, 4-2, in the 123-pound final with a reverse in the last 18 seconds and put his team into a lead that became a victory. Sanders was last year's outstanding wrestler.

Oklahoma, with four finalists, still had a chance to win after Keller's victory but the Sooners lost head-to-head bouts with Iowa State at 130, 145 and 160 and fell to third behind the Cyclones with a single champion at 152. The scoring was 81-78-74 for the three Big Eight powers.

Defending champion Michigan State was a distant fourth with 55 points and Navy led all eastern teams by finishing fifth with 35.

The tournament was one of upsets. Of the five defending champions, only one was able to repeat. Dale Anderson, Michigan State, met Masaru Yatabe, Portland, in a rematch of last year's 137-pound championship and overcame a 5-0 deficit to emerge victorious, 9-5.

David McGuire, Oklahoma's 1967 champion at 130, was beaten in the finals by Dan Gable, Iowa State's unbeaten sophomore, 4-1. The other defending champions did not reach the finals. Don Henderson, Air Force 145-pounder, lost to Phil Frey, Oregon State, Thursday night and was eliminated when Frey lost in the quarterfinals. Fred Fozzard, Oklahoma State's 177-pound champion, lost in the semi-finals to Bob Justice of Colorado but came back with two falls in the consolations to take third and contribute important points to the Cowpokes' triumph.

Dave Porter, who won the heavyweight title for Michigan two years ago but lost last year, regained his championship with a last-minute takedown over top-seeded Jess Lewis of Oregon State, 5-4.

The smoothly-run tournament attracted 382 wrestlers from 102 schools and an attendance of 32,900 to set tourney records in each. There were 294 matches Thursday and the evening session was over before 11 o'clock.

Keller's victory over Sanders, a la David and Goliath, won him the award as the tournament's outstanding wrestler. Jess Lewis, Oregon State's heavyweight finalist, garnered the Manuel Gorriaran trophy for accumulating the most falls in the least time, three in 6:38.

In addition to Iowa State's three champions and one each for the two Oklahoma schools, Colorado claimed one to give the Big Eight Conference a majority over all other areas. Lock Haven claimed the only championship for the East; Fresno State got the first one for the Pacific Coast since 1961 and Adams State claimed one for the Rocky Mountain section. The other two titles went to Michigan and Michigan State.

By coming through in the consolations, Oklahoma State wound up with seven place winners. Iowa State, Oklahoma and Michigan State trailed with five each. No other team had more than two.

COLLEGIATE REVIEWS

Eastern Intercollegiate Wrestling Association

Unbeaten Navy, sporting superior team balance, walked away with the team title during the 1968 EIWA Tournament held at Pitt's Fitzgerald Field House. Placing nine of its 10-man team, the Middies captured three individual titles and wrapped up the championship before the finals.

Rich Lorenzo, 191-pound champion from Penn State, won the Billy Sheridan Memorial Award given to the man scoring the most falls in the least aggregate time (four falls), and also the coaches' award for Most Outstanding Wrestler. The John Fletcher Award to the wrestler who accumulated the most career tournament points for his team went to 123-pounder Gary Burger of Navy.

Helms Foundation Amateur Wrestling Hall Of Fame

The Amateur Wrestling Hall of Fame was established by the Helms Athletic Foundation of Los Angeles in 1957 with an original selection of five wrestlers, nine coaches and one contributor.

Since 1957 annual elections to the Hall of Fame have been held. With the announcement of seven additions for 1968, the total number to be honored for their outstanding contributions to the sport is now 107, including 47 wrestlers, 42 coaches and 18 contributors.

Elections to the Amateur Wrestling Hall of Fame are made by the Helms Hall Board as a result of recommendations made by the Amateur Wrestling Hall of Fame Committee, headed by Jess Hoke, editor and publisher of Amateur Wrestling News.
