NWCA PROGRAM INITIATIVES

What does the NWCA DO?

COACHING DEVELOPMENT | STUDENT-ATHLETE WELFARE PROMOTION AND ADVOCACY

COACHING DEVELOPMENT:

- Provided full scholarships to over 350 head/assistant college coaches to attend the NWCA CEO Leadership Academy since 2010 (total investment of $750,000 to date).
- Held the first CEO Leadership Academy for coaches of women's teams in August 2014 (30 coaches attended).
- Delivers the Fundamentals of Wrestling Course to all scholastic coaches as part of the NFHS Level 1 Certification.
- Delivers Best Practices for Recruiting and Retaining Wrestlers courses to coaches at all levels.
- Hosts an annual national convention designed to develop coaches.
- Provides a college, scholastic and youth "Resource Manual" to help coaches standardize their operating procedures.
- Deploy a new CEO Leadership Training program for scholastic coaches with plans to launch in 2016.

STUDENT-ATHLETE WELFARE:

- Safeguard over 230,000 Student-Athletes from unhealthy weight loss each year through a comprehensive online weight management tool.
- Provide a gold standard nutrition program for free to 230,000 student-athletes each year.
- Make available a 25-minute comprehensive skin infection prevention webinar for FREE to all governing bodies.
- Fund research to develop best practices for reducing skin infection transmission.
- Provide an online risk management course for coaches of all levels.
- Fund research designed to improve eligibility and graduation rates for college wrestlers.
- Collaborate with the NCAA Chief Medical Officer to investigate overuse injuries.

PROMOTION AND ADVOCACY:

- Collaborate with scholastic/collegiate governing bodies and coaches across America to develop rules and regulations that make wrestling more fan and media friendly.
- The NWCA, through various partnerships, has created a central repository for results so more informed decisions can be made regarding the effectiveness of playing rules.
- Support a Best of Brand competition designed to help coaches make wrestling more relevant in schools and communities across the nation.
- Conduct signature events such as the All-Star Classic and National Duals.
- Nationally televise NWCA events on Fox College Sports and the Big Ten Network.
- Collaborate with state and national legislators to protect wrestling at all levels.
- Collaborate with other sports groups to develop coalitions designed to protect the Olympic Sports.
- Sponsor an elaborate awards/recognition program to recognize outstanding achievement of coaches.

ST. LOUIS SPORTS COMMISSION

Co-host of the 2015 NCAA Division II Wrestling Championships

ABOUT THE ST. LOUIS SPORTS COMMISSION

The St. Louis Sports Commission is the independent, privately funded nonprofit organization that benefits St. Louis through sports. Its efforts focus on attracting, creating and managing major sporting events for the St. Louis region. The organization uses the power of sports to enhance the area's quality of life and create economic and social benefit for the community. Since its inception in 1989, the St. Louis Sports Commission has fulfilled its mission by producing high-profile events that generate excitement, revenue and positive exposure for the region. It has helped organize numerous NCAA championships, including the Men's Final Four, Men's Frozen Four, Men's College Cup and Division I Wrestling Championships. Through its affiliated Sports Foundation, the Sports Commission also implements innovative programs that promote sportsmanship and create positive environments for kids to play sports so they remain active and lead healthier, happier lives. For more information on the sports commission and its events, visit www.stlsports.org.

Inextinguishable ZEAL

Caleb White is a St. Cloud State student, a college wrestler, a volunteer firefighter – and a planner

This fall, on a night when the temperatures dipped low enough to remind Minnesotans that winter was on its way, members of the St. Cloud State University wrestling team gathered around a bonfire on a team retreat. Another harbinger of winter – the approach of wrestling season – was on their minds.

Caleb White, a senior heavyweight majoring in construction management, spoke up. “I have three families,” the 285-pound wrestler told his teammates. “One is my immediate family – my brothers, my mom and dad. One is my wrestling family – all the wrestlers I knew in high school, in college, all the wrestlers I’ve met in my career.

“And then there’s my firefighting family,” White went on. “They’re my brothers, too.”

White brings a tactile focus to nearly every challenge he approaches. When he was a 350-pound high school football player, he began running at 5 a.m. daily and following a strict diet to drop 88 pounds so he could weigh in at less than the top weight allowed in high school wrestling. He went on to win the 2011 Iowa state heavyweight wrestling championship.

And when he arrived at college with plans to pursue a career in firefighting after graduation, he left message after message with an area volunteer fire department, hoping that a spot on a crew would help him prepare for his future career.

White’s calls were never returned, so he signed up for firefighting training at the local technical school and planned to find his own way into the profession.

“We’re introducing ourselves, and the instructor gets to me, and I say, ‘I’m Caleb White, and I’m from Iowa,’” White recalled. “The instructor was the chief of the department I had been calling, and he said, ‘I’m glad I found you. We couldn’t hear any of your voice mails.’”

Soon, the college wrestler had a spot on the crew and was carrying a firefighter’s pager in his pocket. White has worked with the St. Cloud State coach, Steve Costanzo, to set priorities and ensure he is meeting all his obligations.

“I just said, ‘This is something that’s really important to me that will continue after college wrestling,’” White said. “He was really supportive of it. He said, ‘You gotta do what you gotta do.’”

The priorities, White said, look like this: first, class; second, wrestling; third, firefighting.

“He’s pretty good at juggling all the different things he is doing,” Costanzo said. “We’re just happy that he’s able to get himself in so many activities and be successful with them.”

White isn’t just thinking about the job he will have after his college wrestling career is complete. He has a penchant for planning ahead, way ahead, and his college major reflects that: He is studying construction management, and after a couple of decades as a firefighter, he plans to become a fire inspector.

What it means to wear a uniform.

Wearing a uniform isn't all about the colors and the shoes. It's about teamwork, leadership, dedication, and sheer drive. All stitched together to create something bigger than yourself. Every day, we wear ours with pride. Thank you for doing the same.

— From the desk of —
MARK EMMERT
— NCAA PRESIDENT —

We gather today from different backgrounds and regions of the country to cheer for our favorite teams and celebrate our alma maters. But let's not forget why we're really cheering. College sports, our iconic and treasured American pastimes, are so much more than what you'll see in these championship events.

This year, more than 54,000 student-athletes will compete in an NCAA national championship and share with their teammates a unique sense of joy and accomplishment. But I've seen time and time again how the student-athletes who are succeeding at the highest level of sports competition are also achieving impressive academic success and giving back to their communities. One of them at the final site of this very championship will be honored as the sport's champion student because he or she holds the highest grade point average among the event's competitors. The Elite 89 award honors their achievement because it represents everything for which the NCAA stands.

Athletics plays an essential role in those accomplishments: student-athletes consistently tell me their love for their sport is what drives them to succeed. Ultimately, it's the success they experience not only on the field, but in the classroom and in life that makes these championships so meaningful. It's a chance for us all to stand and cheer on the next generation of leaders and innovators who will ultimately drive progress in our communities. It is why the commitment to higher education is a value we all share. And when we cheer for them at these events, we're really celebrating the hard work, determination and perseverance that helped them ace the test — in their sport and in their studies.

A lucky few will hoist a trophy in the air when events like this one are finished, and they will hear the cheers of their elated fans. Just remember that along the path to those 89 moments, more than 19,000 teams will share in a meaningful journey they will carry with them for the rest of their lives.

I'm glad you're here to celebrate one of those moments of student-athlete success. Enjoy the championship.

Athletics plays an ESSENTIAL ROLE in those accomplishments: student-athletes consistently tell me their LOVE FOR THEIR SPORT IS WHAT DRIVES THEM TO SUCCEED. Ultimately, it's the SUCCESS they experience not only on the field, but in the CLASSROOM and in LIFE that makes these championships so meaningful.

The Value of College Sports

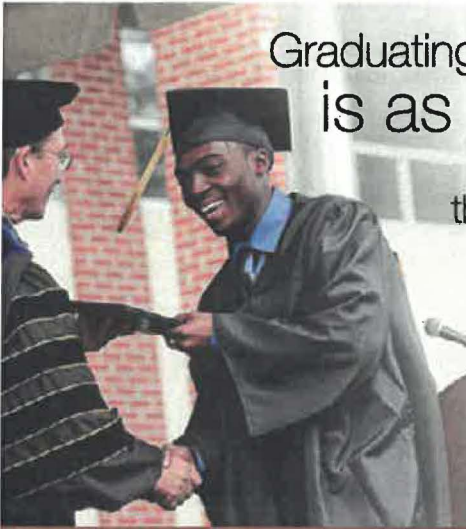

Nearly 1,100 colleges and universities collectively invest in the experiences of student-athletes. Each year, more than 460,000 NCAA student-athletes gain skills to succeed on the field, in the classroom and for life.

Graduating from college is as important as winning on the playing field.

More than eight out of 10 student-athletes will earn bachelor's degrees.

Graduation rates for student-athletes as a group are higher than for their peers in the student body.

NCAA sports give young people opportunities to learn, compete and succeed.

NCAA schools award more than $2.7 billion in athletic scholarships every year to more than 150,000 student-athletes.

More men and women are competing in college sports than ever before.

The NCAA promotes the well-being of student-athletes.

The NCAA Student Assistance Fund has distributed more than $300 million during the past five years to help student-athletes with essential needs.

The NCAA's Sport Science Institute promotes safety, excellence and wellness in student-athletes, fostering life-long physical, mental and emotional development.

NCAA sports help student-athletes develop leadership, confidence, discipline and teamwork.

Student-athletes benefit from NCAA programs supporting leadership opportunities, internships, degree completion and postgraduate scholarships.

NCAA sports help prepare student-athletes for success after graduation.
